

Right Now

Somebody said there's nothing new under the sun
It felt like there was nothing in the world to be done
Four hundred years of history have bred
The need for a cleansing revolution in the head
Right now

If you are a plumber welcome to my humble home
I'll need clean running water and a good working phone
A cable subscription to satisfy my mind
I heard it from the man this is the start of End Times
Right now

The ways of the world had vanquished all hope
When into our eyes a vision did float
This was something that we had never seen

And we knew it could not happen too soon
Felt like we were standing on the moon
Got a view like from a helium balloon
Before it pops
(How 'bout it, Pops?)

We tried religion, tried National Socialism
Tried to turn back the clock with Cambodian Communism

We read our Prince Kropotkin, tried a little anarchy
Now let's take a breath and see how modern we can be.
Right now

The eyes of the world are looking our way
And like Jerri Blank we've "got something to say!"
It's something we've never said before

Alt "C" part:

Hear the fanfare, hear the crowd roar
Take a step and go through that golden door
Everything is different, not like it was before
Right now